The BELLEVINOIS

VOLUME 67

PUBLISHED BY THE BELLEVINOIS STAFF
BELLEVILLE TOWNSHIP HIGH SCHOOL WEST
2600 WEST MAIN STREET
BELLEVILLE, ILLINOIS 62221

As this year became part of our history, the BELLEVINOIS Staff worked to capture the people and events that went into the construction of this year. Trying to fulfill our goal, we searched for all those who drafted the blueprints and became the builders of the '82-'83 year at Belleville Township High School West.

Through this yearbook, we can see a glimpse of the growth of our school and of ourselves.

Much of their time this year was spent in perfecting the scheduling system and working with the school computer to improve methods of reporting grades and statistical reporting. They took on many other responsibilities, both large and small, including the planning of the commencement ceremony. They also attended many time-consuming meetings.

Included in the principals' numerous duties were patrolling the parking lots, taking disciplinary measures, attending all school functions, counseling students and families with problems, and, most importantly, being available whenever needed.

Office workers proved to be "fruitful"

Both the Board of Education and the high school office staffs performed many duties. Included in the groups were bookstore workers, the library clerk, faculty typist, and the switchboard operator. The personnel in the principal's and assistant principals' offices kept attendance records of all students, wrote room-to-room passes, typed letters, and operated the Lost and Found. Other office workers make appointments, opened mail, and answered telephones.

The Board of Education office workers were (Bottom Row) Marlene Wright, Jana Emery, (Top Row) Debbie Dahm, Gayle Hargis, JoAnn Katzmark, and Myra Ramers.

Mrs. Gloria Rose used the computer as part of her daily routine in the Principal's office.

Service workers display varied talents

An annual event that we looked forward to was "Smiling Margie" playing Christmas carols on her electronic organ during lunch hours in the Cafeteria.

Preparing meals for the students and faculty was not as easy as it may have appeared. Twenty-two people comprised the ARA staff that teamed together to prepare, serve, and clean-up after meals. The group began work as early as seven-thirty in the morning and worked until three in the afternoon to serve nearly twenty-six hundred people every school day.

Custodians also played a large role in the operation of the school. One shift was on campus early in the morning to make sure everything was ready for the day. Another shift stayed long after students went home, cleaning and repairing the buildings. They helped to create a fun learning atmosphere, not only through their manual services, but through their cheerfulness as well.

Custodian John Krumrey received materials delivered to the school and delivered them to the departments who ordered them.

A wide variety of language courses were offered by the English Department

Almost every student was enrolled in an English class. Freshmen were introduced to Shakespeare, mythology, and writing of paragraphs while sophomores improved on their speaking skills and the development of essays. Juniors and seniors could choose from a wide selection of courses to complete the three-year English requirement for graduation. We encountered the English language through reading, films, public speaking, literature, and writing. Mr. George Shea, new head of the English Department, stressed the importance of college preparation and the incorporation of writing into all courses.

For the second year in a row, Miss Jane Mueth was honored as an outstanding young woman of the year. Recipients of this award are chosen on the basis of their accomplishments and good citizenship.

Sonja Carter applies make-up to Kristi Athmer in their Technical Theatre class.

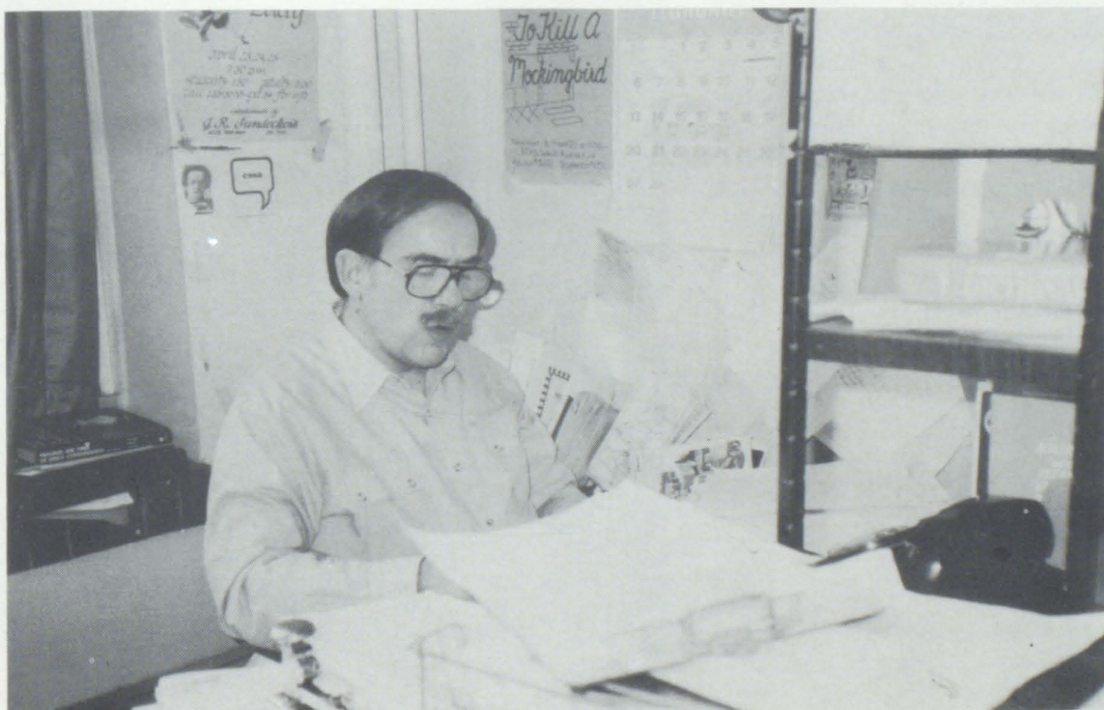

Mr. George Shea speaks with the representative from the SIU-E English Department. Seniors who took part in the SIU-E sponsored writing clinic held on our campus were given the chance to write a sample essay for an evaluation by college teachers.

Pat Herrman entered an original manuscript in a contest sponsored by the National Poetry Press and was awarded a certificate of merit.

Mathematics provided us with a necessary background

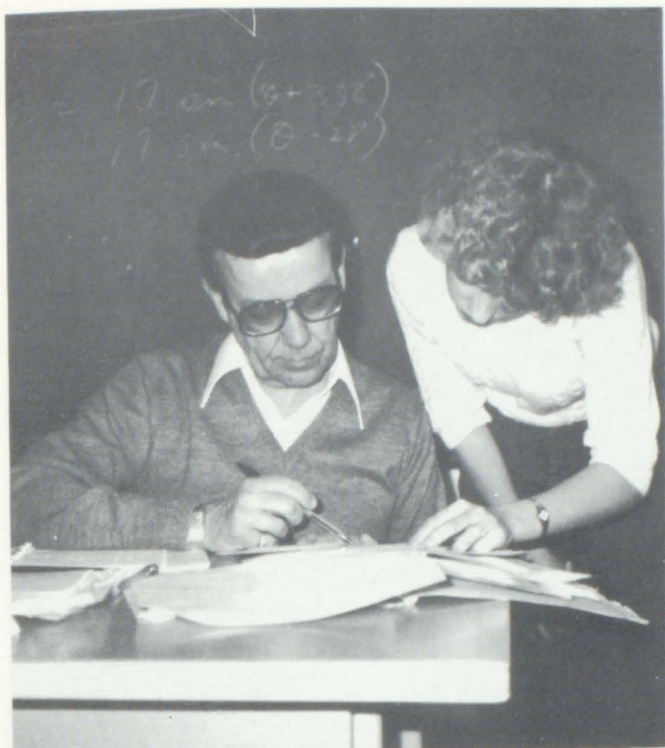

Although only one year's math credit was necessary for graduation, students were encouraged to take additional courses to meet the standards set by college admission requirements and the challenges offered by the competitive job market. Under the direction of Mr. Don Jackson, the math department offered courses to suit the needs of many, from basic math to honors classes.

Science courses showed us the universe in a different light

The Natural Science Department, headed by Mr. Al Schuessler, and the Physical Science Department under the direction of Mr. F.B. Allen offered a variety of courses, both in fundamentals and in advanced work.

Activities in natural science classes included dissection of worms, frogs, and cats. Students in anatomy class grew cultures of bacteria. Physical science classes made soap, did titrations, and conducted experiments to prove the laws of Newton and Ampere.

Patti Cange, Lisa Barkowski, and Michele Bray enjoy a rare break from note taking in anatomy class.

Business courses provided experience for our futures

For the first time, this year students were given the opportunity to take a course in Computer Programming-Cobol. Before taking the course, they had to have completed Introduction to Data Processing, a one-semester course.

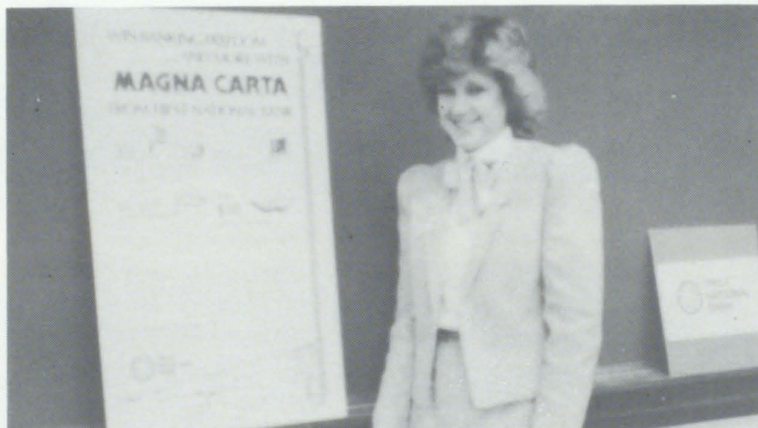

Cobol students learned to write assigned programs, to enter the programs on an Apple II Plus Computer with Microsoft Cobol, and to save their programs on a floppy disk. Mrs. Sandra Tinney taught Cobol for the Business Education Department, which was headed by Mr. Howard Belcher.

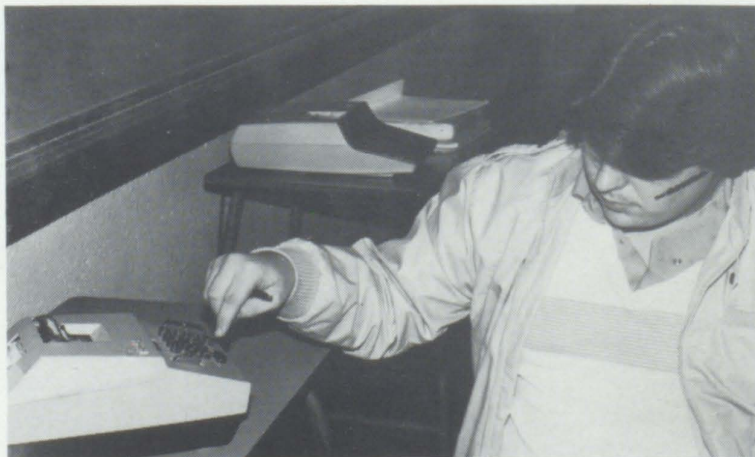

Laura Bauder learned that figuring taxes was a big part of her first-year accounting class.

Charlene Coil learned how to transcribe a dictated letter during her shorthand class instruction.

Mrs. Kathy Lickenbrock of the First National Bank of Belleville talked to the Business Communications class about the advantages of using Magna Carta.

John Shipley used an adding machine to figure out accounting problems in his General Business class.

Lori Robinson worked as a secretary in Principal Jerry Turner's office as part of her Office Occupations work-study program.

Pat Herman entered her Cobol program into an Apple II Microsoft Computer with Cobol. This was the first year that Cobol computer programming was introduced to students.

Social sciences taught us about people and our heritage

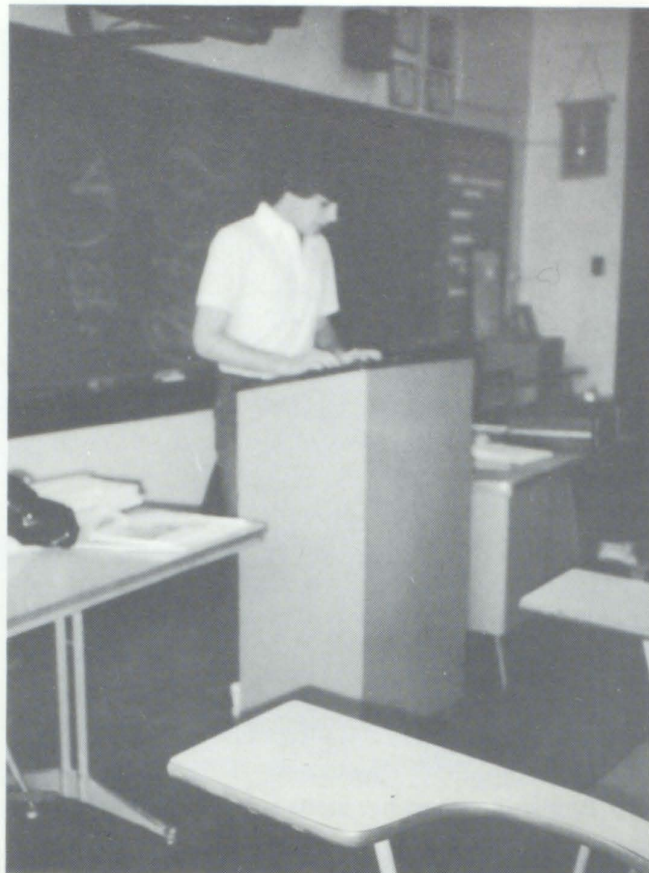

Social studies teachers taught us about the world we live in. The history and government of our country and others were topics of discussion in the variety of courses offered. A choice for freshman entering in August was whether to take civics during their first year or to meet the state requirement by taking a class in government during their senior year. Juniors could meet the requirement of one year of American history by taking the regular survey course or four of the mini-courses set up by the department under the leadership of Mr. Robert Hanson.

Bill Trapp used the reference room in the library to write a report for his history class.

Foreign language classes let us express ourselves differently and creatively

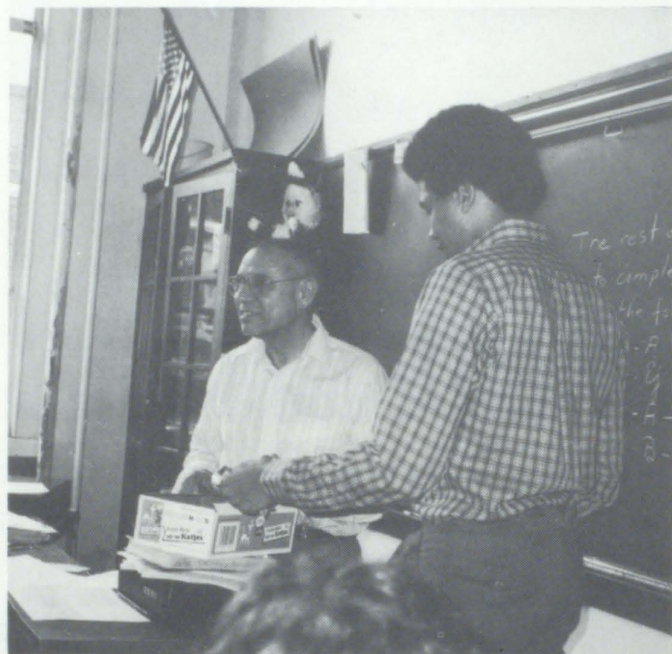

Students in French classes played games in addition to studying the language.

Students in Spanish classes learned that TV programs and Joan Jett were also popular in the Spanish-speaking countries.

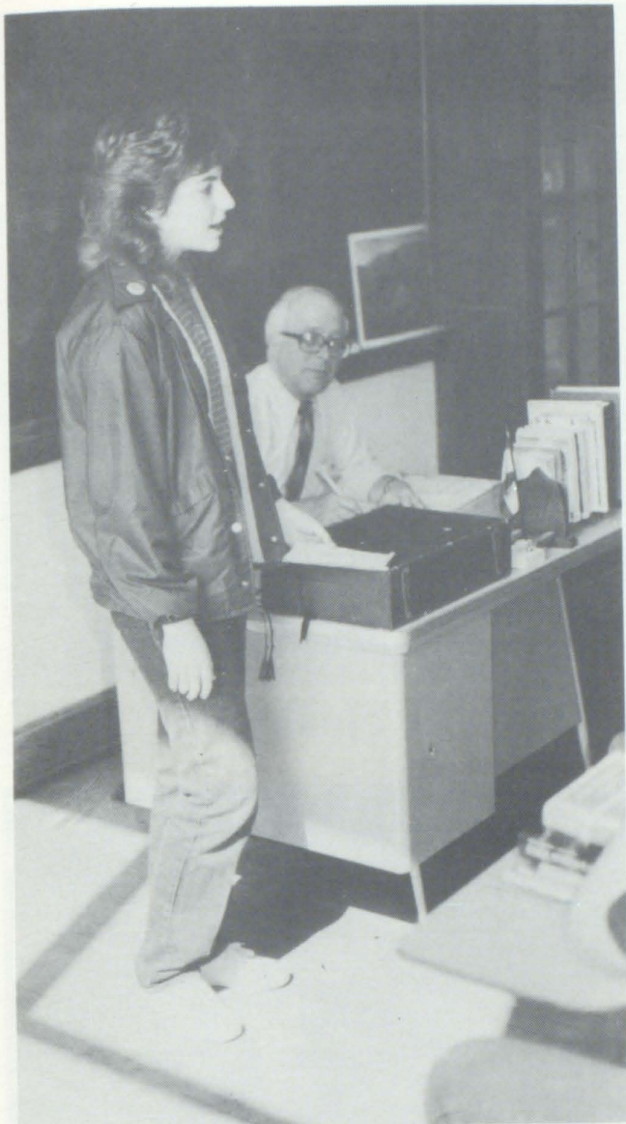

Foreign language classes gave students a chance to learn about the people, the customs, and the languages of France, Germany, and Spain. In French, German, or Spanish, students learned to prepare the cuisine native to the countries as well as to deliver a speech and to read parts of novels in the native tongues. Our school offered only three languages beside English, but increasing world communication and trade is creating a trend toward more and more study of the languages of advanced countries.

In her first year French class, Patty Osborn learned to make a French valentine.

One of the more interesting aspects of French class was learning to prepare crepes.

Physical Education gave us a break from the classroom

The Physical Education Department offered a wide variety of electives throughout the year. Included were activities such as archery, badminton, aerobics, soccer, basketball, softball, tennis, volleyball, tumbling, weights, and others. Mr. Keith Lawrence headed the department.

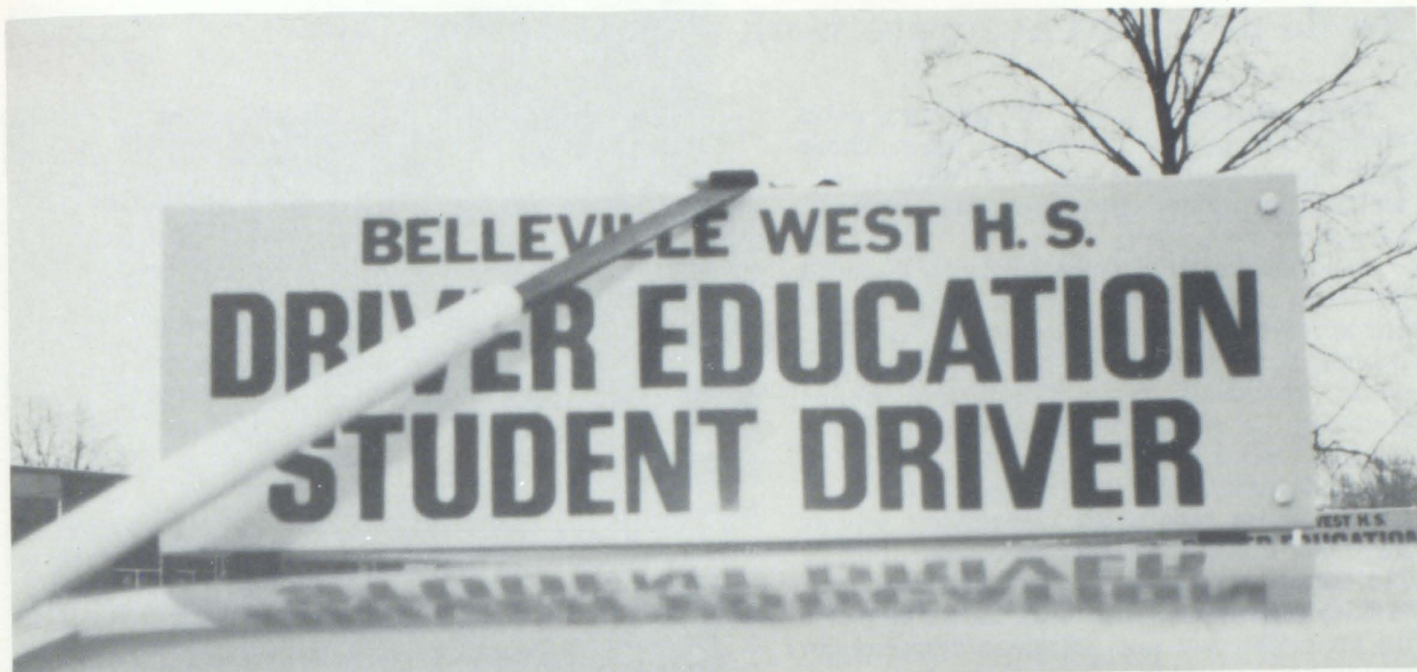

Softball was one of the many electives we had to choose from in physical education.

Playing frisbee sometimes became an alternative for a regular P.E. class.

We tried to improve our skills by taking tennis as an elective in P.E. class.

This sign was recognized by many area drivers and pedestrians.

Students anxiously waited to take Driver's Education

In Drivers' Education, students are required to take a number of hours of behind-the-wheel, classroom, and simulator in order to receive their blue slips. Even though this year a proposal was made by the Secretary of State of Illinois to raise the legal driving age to eighteen, students were still able to receive their state licenses at the age of sixteen.

Health education was a required course for all freshmen. In health classes students learned CPR, first aid, sex education, and personal and mental fitness.

Students in health education classes were offered an optional life-saving course to become certified in CPR.

Local dealers provided cars for Driver's Education students to use in practicing the driving skills they studied in the classroom.

To do neat and accurate work took time and patience

Many students took the general shop course during their freshman year. There they were taught the basics of electronics, welding, drawing, auto mechanics, agriculture, and wood shop.

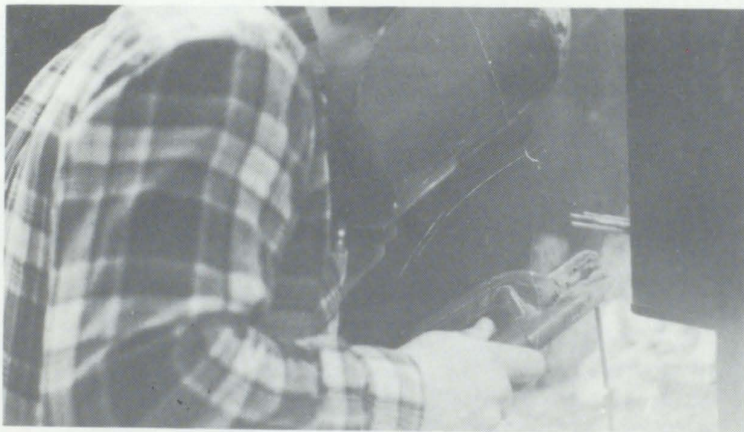

As sophomores, interested students could enroll in a course during which they would concentrate on a special field of interest. During their third and fourth years, they could specialize in a field they might someday be employed in. Mr. E.M. Gyerman has worked for many years as head of the Industrial Education Department and has built up meaningful programs which have led many graduates into solid jobs in the community. He has worked with the faculty members in his department to build up an organized and efficient department which has served the needs of students and the community.

Dennis Dixon demonstrated his skill with a table saw in a wood shop class.

Chuck Stillman gained experience working on cars in the Auto Shop.

Welding students soldered two pieces of metal together.

Mr. Dwight Friemann showed Mike Rickey, Terry Plunkett, and Danny Bishop how computers can be used in electronics.

Students displayed talent in music and art

Under the direction of Mr. Doug Eskra and Mr. Donald Jones, the Art and Music Departments encouraged students to develop their potentials to the fullest. These classes were a change of pace from other academic courses and students welcomed the chance to express themselves artistically. Beginners were given a generalized background in basic art and then given the chance to progress in specified areas. Freshmen music students auditioned to be placed in appropriate groups.

David Toombs and Nancy Bucknell concentrated on their duet for the state solo and ensemble contest.

Mike Dell displayed his imagination in a ceramics class.

Learning to sew and cook proved to be an experience

Home Economics courses were chosen as an extra course by boys as well as girls. Under the direction of Mrs. Jean Best, the Home Economics Department served to increase awareness of the necessary skills involved in successfully managing a home and family. Advanced courses in meal planning, sewing, and family living were offered to those who wished to perfect the skills introduced to them in the introductory class, Home Ec 1-2.

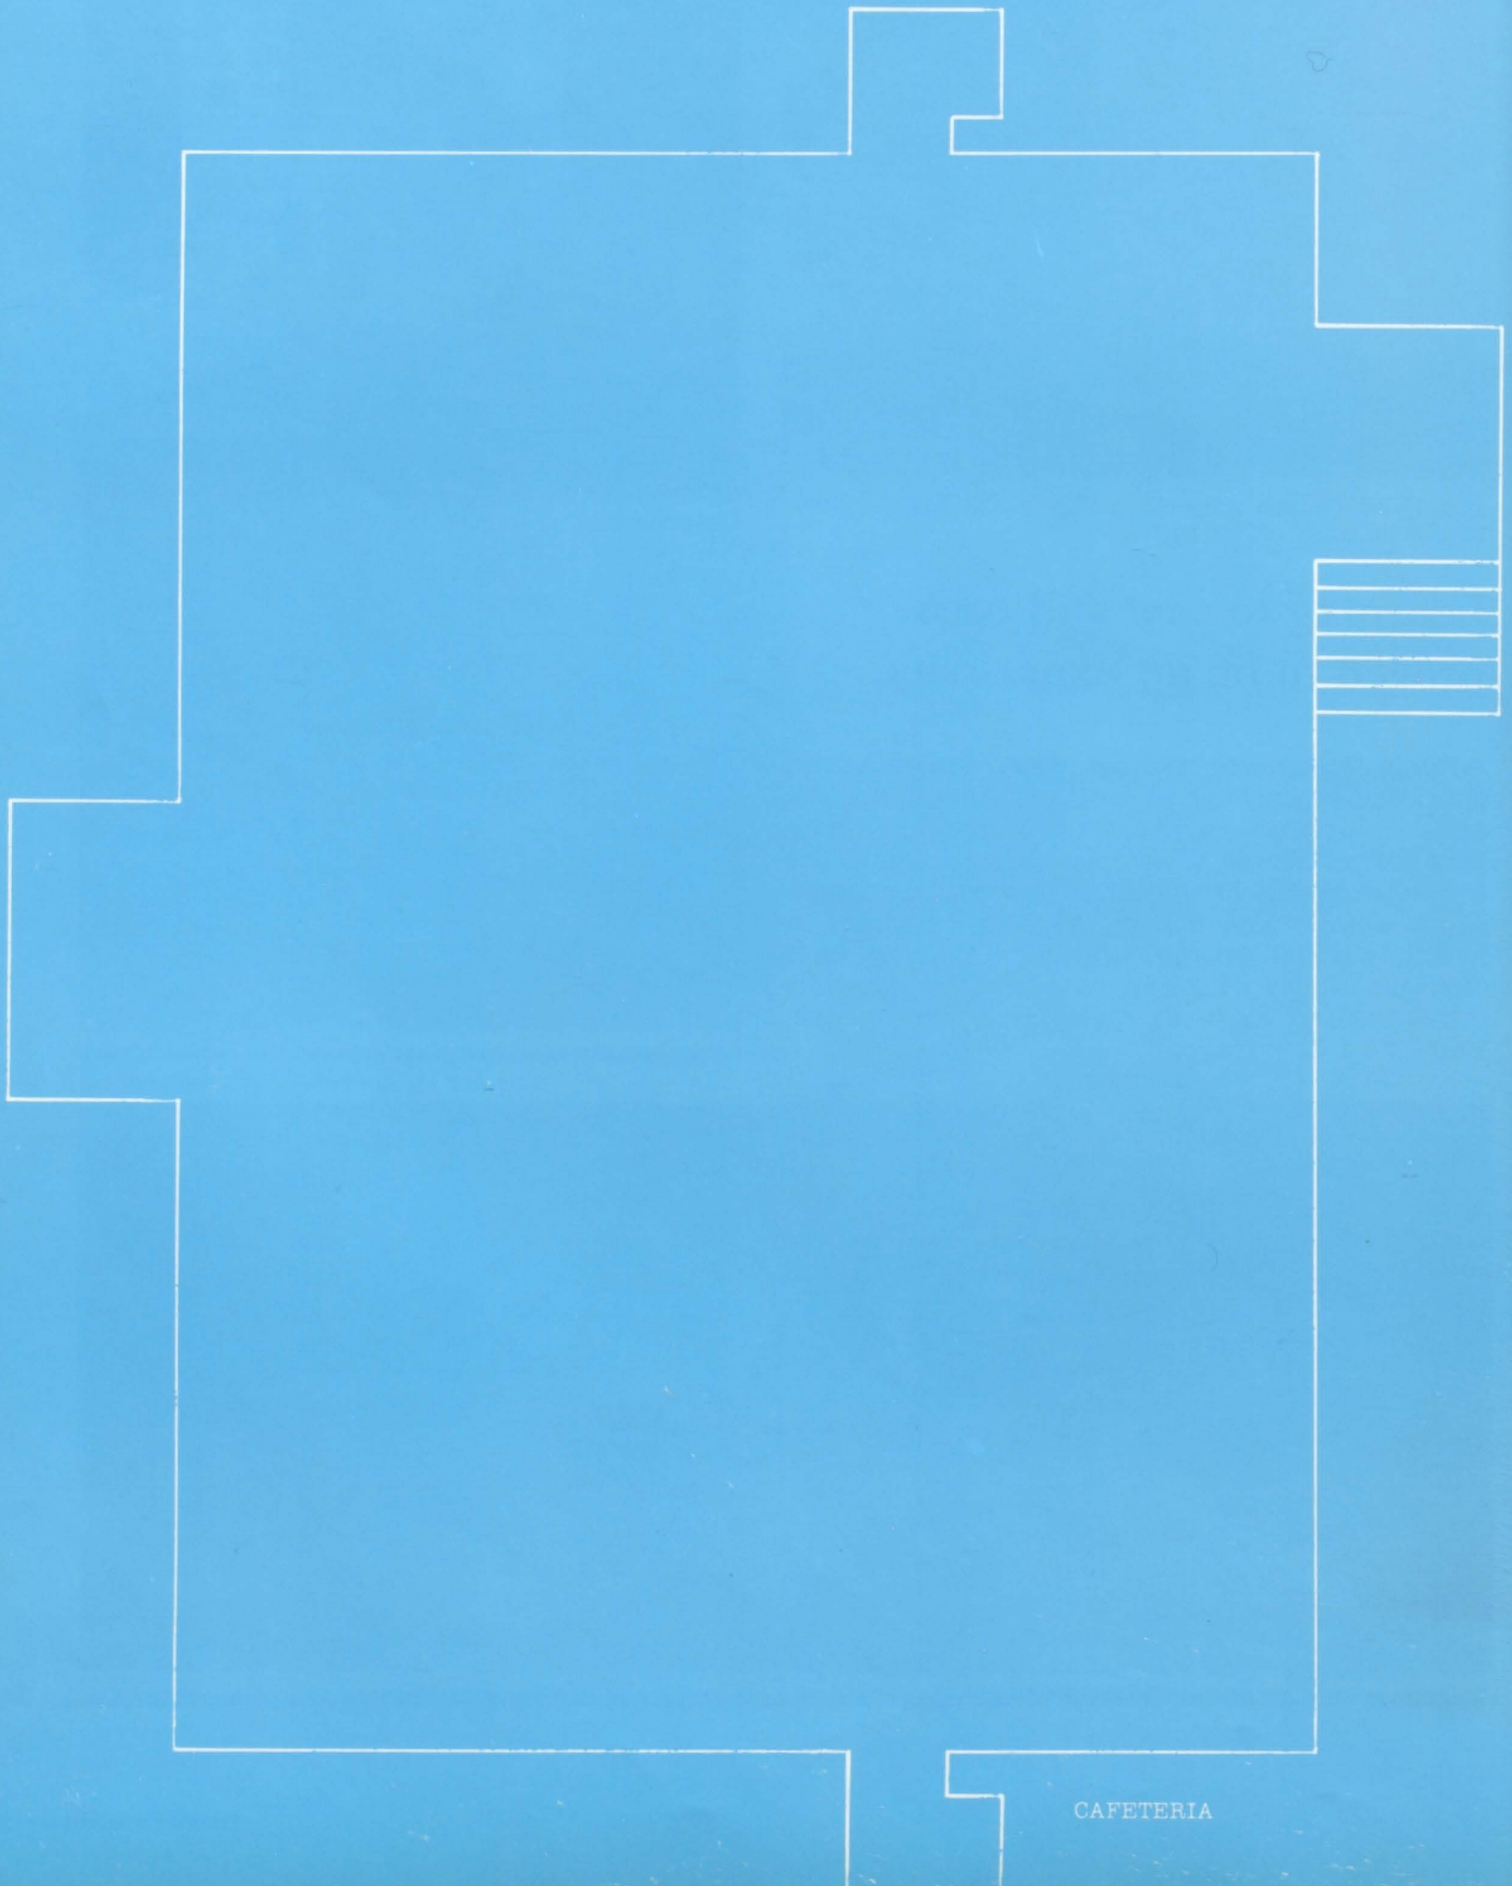

HOME ECONOMICS COURSES

Clothing Construction
Family Living
Home Economics 1-2
Homemaking
Housing
Meal Planning
Nutrition

Magazines were useful resources for homemaking students as they did a mini-project on clothing and personality types.

We have made our debut in our first days at West.

Learning, experiencing, and trying our best,

we presented ourselves to the public view.

We have grown together with our peers who were there to share all our fears.

We made the best out of what we had,
learning from everything, good and bad.

This year was ours to make it be the best for the Class of '83.

We certainly know how to throw a party. Cake and soda was the only way to go.

Following the evening performance of J.A.M., Randy Parham and Barb Lindauer were crowned as King and Queen of the Jam.

The J.A.M. was a class-produced and a class-directed play to raise money for the annual Junior-Senior Prom. Ten boys and ten girls were elected by secret ballot for membership on the Jam Court. One boy and one girl of the Court were then elected as Jam King and Queen.

The 1982 Jam King and Queen: Randy Parham and Barb Lindauer.

We tried to make our yearbook the most original ever

Fifteen of us met during the sixth hour every day from August to May to plan and produce our book from cover design to cover. We tried to put into book form the essence of this year on campus. Except for studio portraits of the classes and faculty, the book was student-produced. The majority of pictures were planned by us and taken and printed in our staff darkroom by our staff photographers.

To make money to pay for darkroom equipment and supplies and to help pay part of the cost of each yearbook that the price of the book didn't cover, we sold programs and popcorn at home football games, sold advertising space to local merchants, and co-sponsored the annual Donkey Basketball game on March 24.

Mr. Harry Swain of St. Louis enlisted the help of Maria Kimutis in mounting pictures on boards for the faculty section of the book.

Staff members sold popcorn at home football games to raise money for the yearbook.

Signing yearbooks at the close of school was the way for students to personalize each yearbook.

Hy News keeps students informed of campus and area news

The Hy News Staff, supervised by Mrs. Judy Duncan, published nine papers during the school year. The staff met fifth hour daily to produce and develop ideas for each issue.

The Hy News sponsored the first annual Pumpkin Decorating Contest, held during Spirit Week. The staff also sponsored the annual Hy News Citizenship Awards. The Good Citizens chosen were honored at an assembly on April 21.

The Student Council led the student body in a variety of activities

The Student Council, sponsored by Mr. Fredrick Kunze, met every day during the third hour. The group's money-making projects included selling balloons at home football games and Valigrams for Valentine's Day.

The Council sponsored and organized the annual Spirit Week and Hobo Day activities in October. On December 20, the group held the annual Christmas Dance in the Cafeteria. The Donkey Basketball game, held on March 24, was co-sponsored by the Bellevinois Staff and the Council. To finish off the year with a good time, the Council gave a Spring Fling, held in the Gym on April 29.

As a special project this year, the Council took on the task of landscaping the quadrangle between the Main Building and the Girls' Gym.

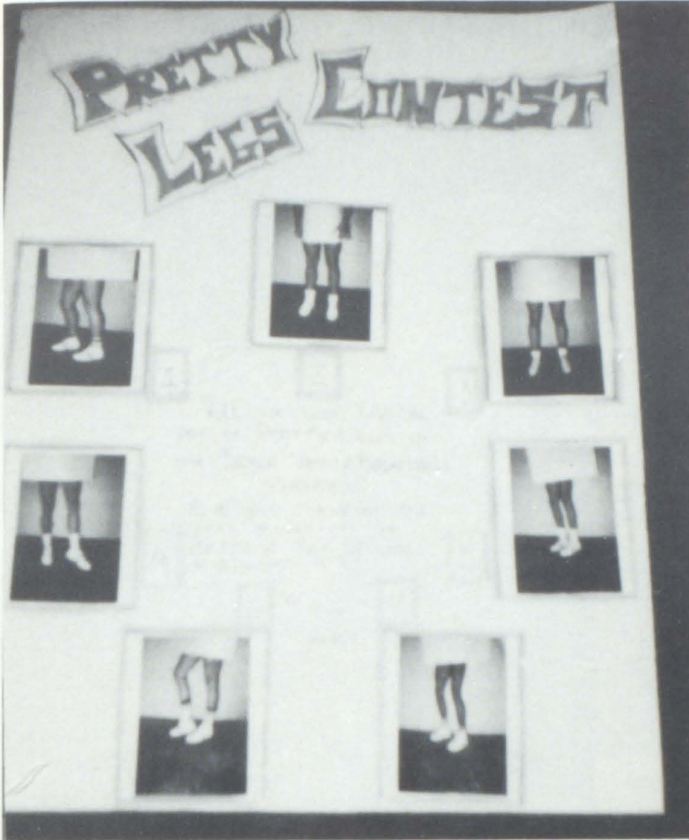

The Student Council wished everyone a happy Christmas season.

Lori Baltz and Mary Asbury prepared the Gym for the Hobo Day assembly.

AFS tries to revive interest in exchange students

The campus chapter of the American Field Service, sponsored by Miss Sue Sharp, met the third Tuesday of every month. For the first time this year, no host family could be found to house a foreign exchange student and we did not have an exchange student on our campus.

Money-making activities of the club included a baking contest and the Pretty Legs Contest held during Spirit Week. In May the group held its annual auction.

Model United Nations and debate teams spoke on many issues

The Model United Nations, sponsored by Mr. Robert Hanson, replaced the former Social Studies Club. The Model UN is an organization developed to increase education in international affairs.

At the McKendree College Invitational Model United Nations fall session, Brian Kamm won an honorable mention as speaker for the Social, Cultural, and Humanitarian Committee, one of the many committees of the group.

The debate and speech teams, coached by Mr. Richard Hunsaker and Mr. John Seibert respectively, acquired new members. Ted Myhre qualified for the IHSA state tournament. This was a year of rebuilding for the debate and speech squads.

Ashraf Hameedi represented Algeria at a Model United Nations meeting at McKendree College last fall.

Little Theatre accomplished its goal of entertaining audiences

The members of Little Theatre had no problem in entertaining their audiences, beginning in October with the one-acts entitled "Game," "The High Window," and "The Bad Children."

In November "To Kill a Mockingbird" was staged. In February Frosty melted his way into everyone's heart when "Frosty the Snowman" was performed.

"Feathertop" was chosen as the play that Theatre took to contest this year. The season ended with the musical "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying."

Valerie Shock sold pretzels during the lunch hours to make money for Little Theatre.

A Thespian's work was never done

Under the direction of Miss Jane Mueth, the Thespians continued to turn out fine performers to represent West. Being a good performer was not the only requirement to become a Thespian. All members were required to work for two hundred hours as a Little Theatre member, one hundred of which were spent back stage. After a student became a Thespian, hard work was the requirement he had to fulfill.

"To Kill a Mockingbird" was Little Theatre's fall play.

Foreign language clubs added culture to activities

The French Club, sponsored by Mrs. Marianne Chmeleck, prepared a Christmas dinner which included a variety of French cuisine. Beignet (French doughnuts) and cafe au lait were prepared at their annual Mardi Gras meeting in February.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Lynn Koehler, the German Club took its annual gourmet trip to Eberhardt's German Restaurant in Columbia, Illinois. In September the club went on a picnic to Bellevue Park. The group spread Christmas cheer for the elderly at St. Paul's Nursing Home before the holidays. Both the German and the French Club held Valentine-making parties in February.

Members of the French and German Clubs enjoyed a Valentine-making party.

Brenda Bingheim and Deanna Hasenstab had articles published this year in the Illinois History magazine.

Dawn Herbert sold popcorn at home basketball games to raise money for the History Club.

History is in the making

The History Club, sponsored by Mr. Vincent Torigian, celebrated its eleventh year at West. The club has earned many honors, including the regional trophy for the past ten years. Beth Carril, Deanna Hasenstab, and Brenda Bingheim wrote reports that were featured in the Illinois History magazine this year.

Popcorn and hot pretzels were sold at home basketball games and bake sales were held in the Cafeteria to raise funds. Over the years, their bake sales have earned the club five thousand dollars. The money was used for transportation to regional and state contests. Any money remaining was used to buy history books for our school library.

History Club members met before school to discuss their trip to the regional contest.

Working for the History Club were (Bottom Row) John Swistak, Carissa Climaco, Brenda Bingheim, Kathy Jou, Vicky Van Dyke, (Second Row) Cheryl Santner, Dawn Herbert, Deanna Hasenstab, Alice Lindauer, Kelly Prince, (Third Row) LeAnn Lugge, Annette Bertelsman, Laura Hoppenjans, Tammy Harness, Chris Smith, Keri Dunck, (Fourth Row) Deidre Bauer, Staci Leap, Kim Starr, Michele Rothly, Lana Pelc, Kristin Koester, (Fifth Row) Shelley Schuler, Kim Zaring, Kim Winning, Milton Pinkston, Tom Mannino, Greg Koontz, (Top Row) Mr. Vincent Torigian, sponsor.

A handbook, graph paper, and a master guide were essentials to the game of Dungeon and Dragons.

We built railroads and discovered new passage ways

The Model Railroad Club, sponsored by Dr. David Snowden, has been active for eight years. Members are currently working on a railroad layout.

Sponsored by Mr. Gary Shepek, the War Games Club met every morning before school to play Dungeons and Dragons.

Under the guidance of Mr. Arch Montgomery, members of the Photography Club met at various times to discuss lighting and scenery.

Darrel Shock worked on building a track with supervision from Rob Phillips.

Clubs appealed to varied interests

The Future Farmers of America were led at club meetings by Chuck LaFore, president, and Jay Guetterman, vice-president. The group sold beef jerky and peanuts to raise money for their activities. Sponsored by Mr. Harold Hall, the club went on a field trip to Prairie Farms Dairy and held an annual barbecue for parents. They also went on hayrides and played volleyball.

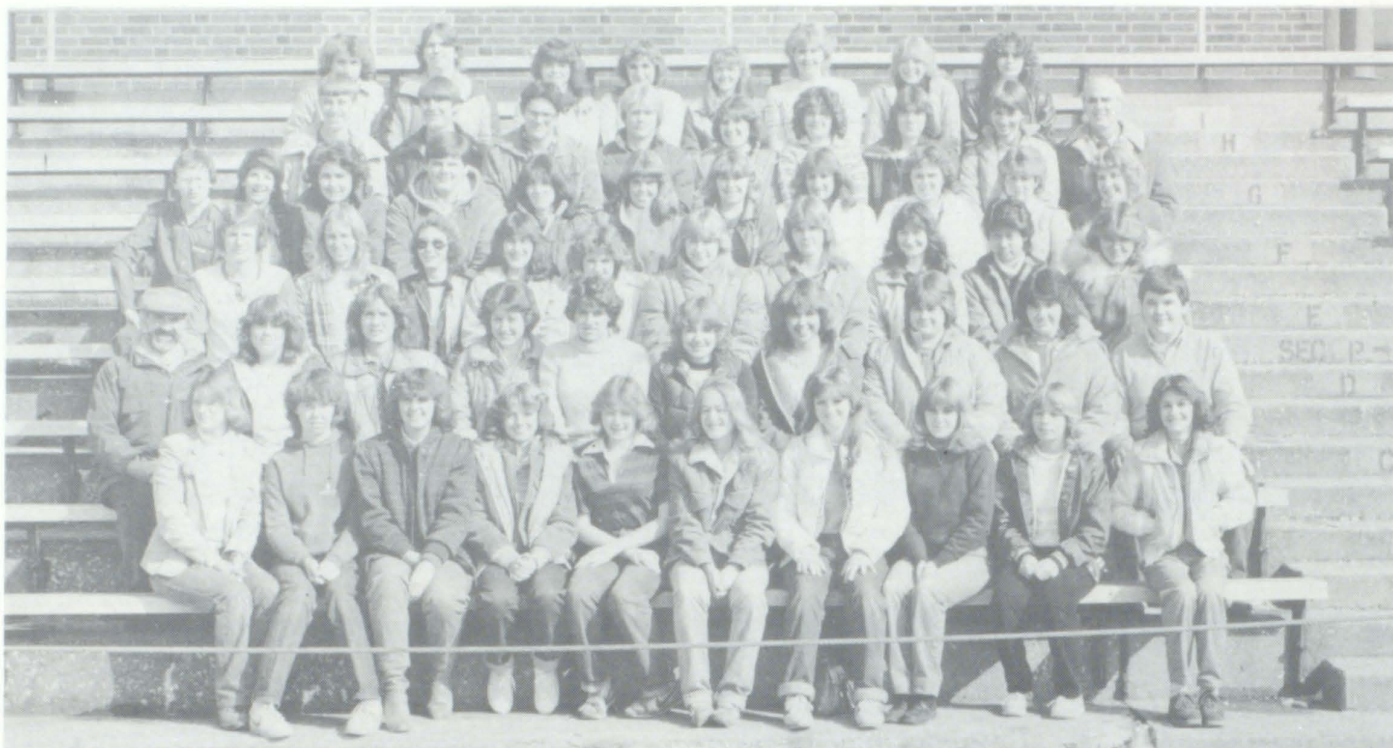

A new club formed on campus this year was the Electronics Club, sponsored by Mr. Dwight Friemann and led by Mike Hemmer, president, Tom Gibbons, vice-president, and Terry Plunkett, secretary-treasurer. Marching Band earns honors

The Marching Maroons, under the direction of Mr. Ralph Schlesinger, provided entertainment in many different ways. In addition to marching in community parades, the band performed at all of the home football games. Their pre-game selection consisted of the Wide World of Sports, the Star-Spangled Banner, and Notre Dame. Half-time songs were Axtex Fire, Maple Leaf Rag, Sophisticated Ladies, and They're Playing Our Song.

The band participated in the Greater St. Louis band contest, the Salem contest in which it placed second, the O'Fallon contest in which the band again received second place, and the Eastern Illinois University contest in which the band placed fifth and received the President's trophy for the best field show design. Individual section trophies were won by the rifle line, the flag line, and the drum line.

Members worked hard this year, selling candy, candles, ornaments, cannisters, and tickets for spaghetti dinners to raise money for the mini-trip to Chicago in June. Money raised also went toward the purchase of an equipment truck.

All three squads made it to the finals which consisted of the top six squads. The football-basketball varsity went on to receive first place. Maroon harriers finished the season in winning form

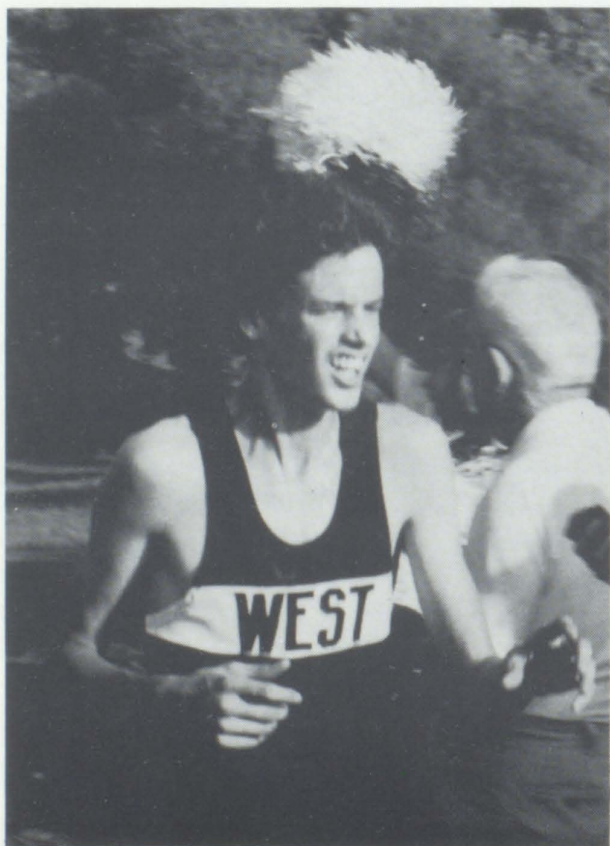

As City Champions, both cross country teams were led by an elite trio composed of a sophomore and two seniors.

As tri-captains of the boys squad, senior Kurt Whittet along with senior tri-captain Tom Miller and sophomore Jon Burnett led the team to a second place finish in the Southwestern Conference. Kurt and Tom were the only sectional qualifiers for the boys team, placing 24th and 56th respectively.

As co-captain of the girls squad, senior Karen Leingang led the team to four invitational meet championships and runners-up in four more, including the Regional. They also became Conference champions for the first time ever. With a supporting cast consisting of Mary Determan and Tammy Dill, the Maroon harriers qualified for the Sectional meet by placing 6th of 18 teams. Karen was the sole qualifier for West at the State meet where she placed 47th out of 200 runners.

Volleyball team set themselves up for success

Warmup was a necessary part of game preparation.

Everyone knew who was in complete control of the game.

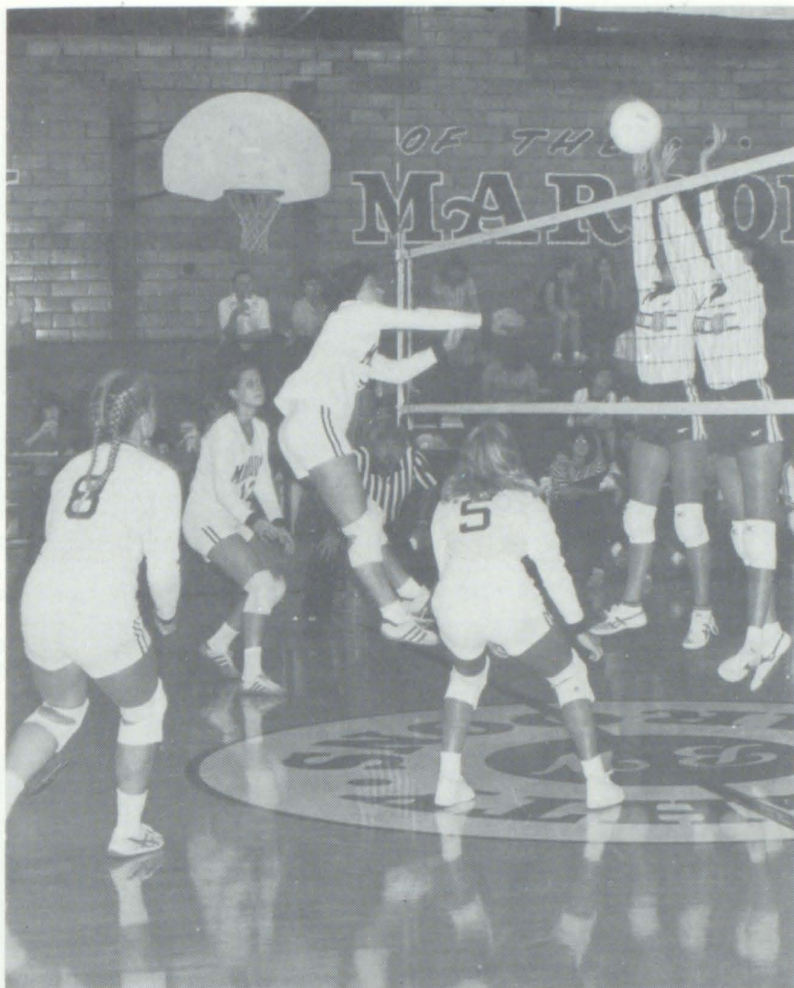

Timeouts were an important time to rearrange our offense.

Under Coach Charles Rodman, the varsity volleyball team compiled a season record of twenty-three wins and six losses and captured first place in the BTHS Invitational. Key factors in the Maroon offense were Lisa Hoffman and Judy Scheller, co-captains. They contributed the most spikes with 168 and 150, respectively. Stacey DeFrates, Most Inspirational Player, led the team in serves with 187, and Nel Patton broke the career record of assists with 672.

With a season total of 168 spikes, Lisa Hoffman puts another one down.

Nel Patton and Lori Krause cover spiker Stacey DeFrates' attack.

Digging was an important element in the Maroon defense.

Netters pull through for another undefeated season

The Maroon netters finished their season undefeated, with a record of eighteen wins and zero losses. Including 1982, West has finished first in the Southwestern Conference for four years. Both this year and last, the girls captured first place in the Belleville East Invitational. The Maroon teams have won fifty-three consecutive matches over the past three years. Accomplishment overshadowed the Maroons' inexperience Pride, determination, and hard work led the team to a second place finish in the Southwestern Conference, despite two losses to East St. Louis Senior High. The relatively-inexperienced squad captured the City Championship by defeating both Belleville East and Althoff. Leading the offense was Murray Fields, who ran for 476 yards and completed eight touchdowns. Quarterback Mark Lanxon completed 56 of his 104 passes for four touchdowns. Co-Captain Matt Studtmann led the defense with a total of 91 tackles. The young Maroon team worked well together during games to earn a record of six wins and three losses.

Mighty Maroon matmen pin another successful season

The wrestlers completed another successful season by compiling an overall dual match record of 15-3-1. Led by Co-Captains Tim Allgire and Rick Blaes, the team dominated the area by winning the Southwestern Conference Championship and topping it off with the title of City Champions. The Maroons qualified five members to the sectional, three of whom were district champions.

Although the season ended at the sectional meet, the five members tried their best to qualify for the state meet.

Up and down season proves disappointing to cagers

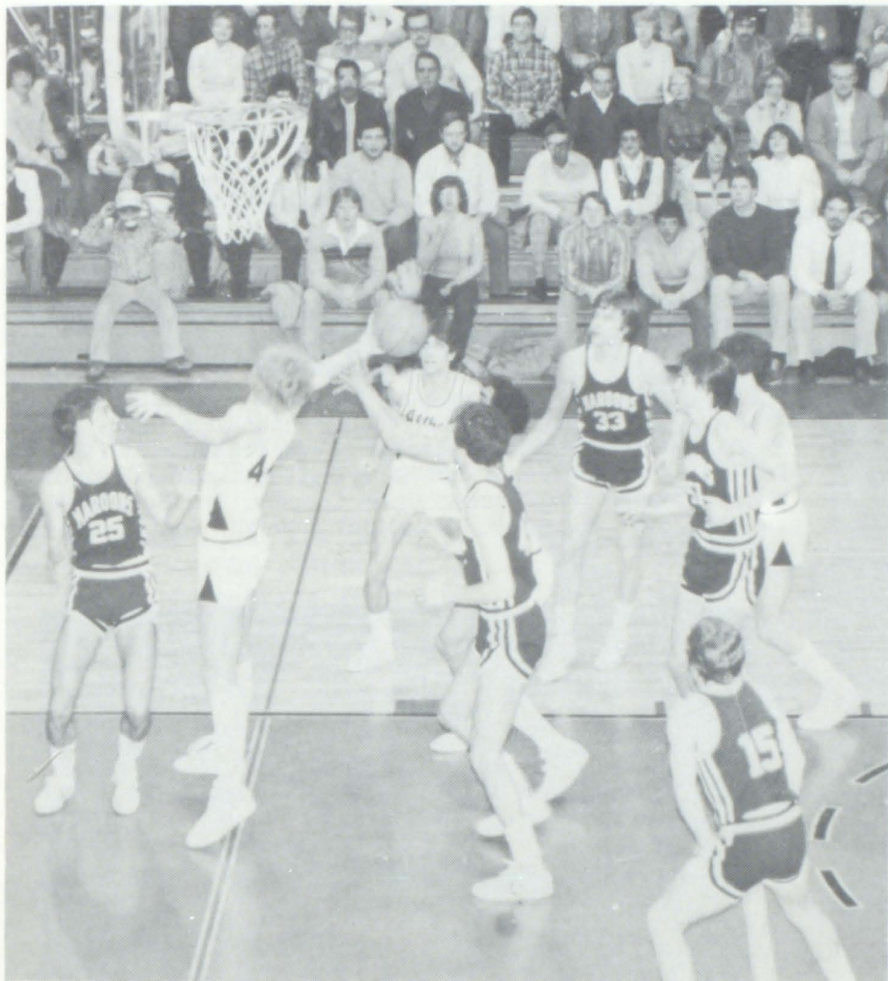

The Mighty Maroons led by Co-captains Mark Henke and Ken Coplen, began their season with a record of six wins and two losses going into the Centralia Holiday Tournament. As the number one seed, West was favored to win the competition and defeated Salem in the first round. In the second round, the Maroons were stunned by Mount Vernon in overtime. After their defeat at Centralia, West began its up and down season, winning seven games and losing seven in regular season play. The team finished its season second in the Southwestern Conference, with the top offense in the area led by the scoring of All-State forward Ken Coplen. Our hopes for a regional title were shattered with the loss to Althoff in overtime during the first round of the regional tournament at East.

All-State forward Ken Coplen collects another basket to add to his 22.3 points-per-game average.

Seniors dominate as Maroon cindermen race for state

Guiding the Maroons' quest for excellence are sprinter/hurdler Pat Bland and distance ace Kurt Whittet. Other top sprinters for the Maroons are Steve Bunn, Walsh Keely, Craig Stanley, and Mark Sauerwein. Tom Miller will help out in the 1600 meters and the 3200 meter relay while Jon Burnett will provide excellent support for Whittet in the 3200 meters. Dan Cook will help out in the high hurdles and the sprints and Ken Fulton will run the 400 and 800 meters. In the field, Kevin Underwood proves to be a threat in the triple and long jump while John Graham and Brian Miller stand out in the discus and shot put, respectively.

Also providing depth and speed were hurdler Jill Schroeder and sprinter/hurdler Trisha Mueller. Tammy Dill who enjoyed a stand-out cross country season last fall could also provide surprises in the 1600 and 3200 meters.

Powerful distance runners, Tammy Dill and Karen Leingang, helped their team to capture second place at the Hazelwood East relays by leading the distance runners to first place finishes in the 6400 meter relay and the distance medley.

Trisha Mueller and Jill Schroeder scored more points for West as both sprinters and hurdlers.

Karen Leingang pushed herself to the limit as she out-distanced a Flyerette enroute to a second place finish in the 1600 meters, behind teammate Tammy Dill.

Kathy Lisch flew through the air as she completed the long jump, one of her many events that earned her a varsity position on the team.

Lady Maroons swing toward state with confidence

With half of the starters who reached the state quarterfinals last year returning to the squad and with strong underclassmen support, Coach Tom Ninnis and his team hope for a successful season.

Returning to their starting positions are short stop Dawn Elser (.352), third baseman Sue Hausmann (.340), catchers Kim Oplet (.326) and Laura Voss, center fielder Lisa Hoffmann, and designated hitter Donna Harris (.395). Stacey DeFrates and Nel Patton fill in the outfield with Lisa Pakat at first and Michelle Bray at second. Other key players are infielder Sherry Sager and outfielder Toni McHenry.

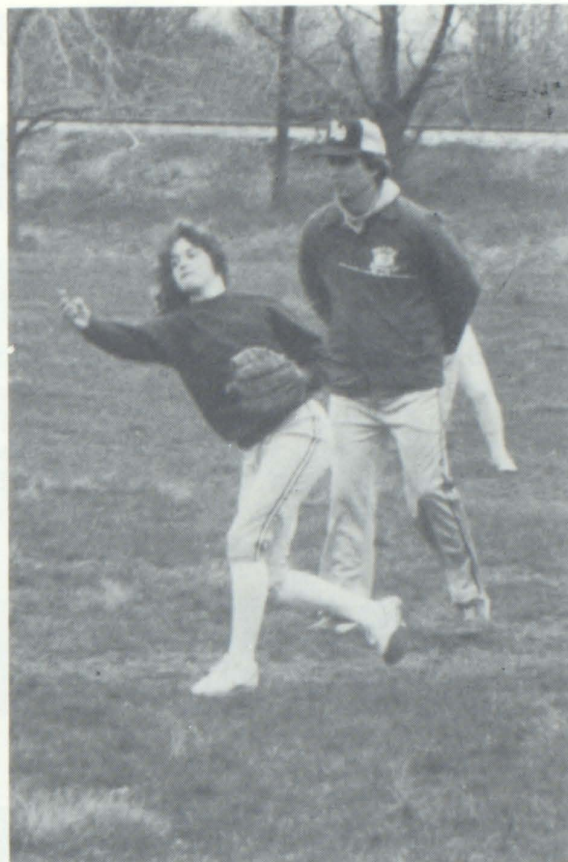

The varsity included (Bottom Row) Assistant Coach Jim Brueggeman, Kim Oplet, Lori McHenry, Nel Patton, Dawn Elser, Tammy Cassidy, Head Coach Tom Ninnis, (Second Row) Donna Harris, Leslie Pabst, Jennifer Ervin, Tracy Dunn, Michele Bray, Stacey DeFrates, Lisa Acup, (Top Row) Sherry Sager, Becky Sutton, Lori Lehr, Laura Voss, Lisa Hoffmann, Lisa Pabst, and Sue Hausmann.

Becky Sutton stretches for the catch at first base as Sue Hausman rounds first.

Lisa Acup rounds home as catcher Kim Oplet watches.

The pitcher, Tammy Cassady, was a big asset for the Maroon defense.

With a batting average of .352, Dawn Elser was a strong link in the lineup.

Strong pitching staff will control young Maroon team

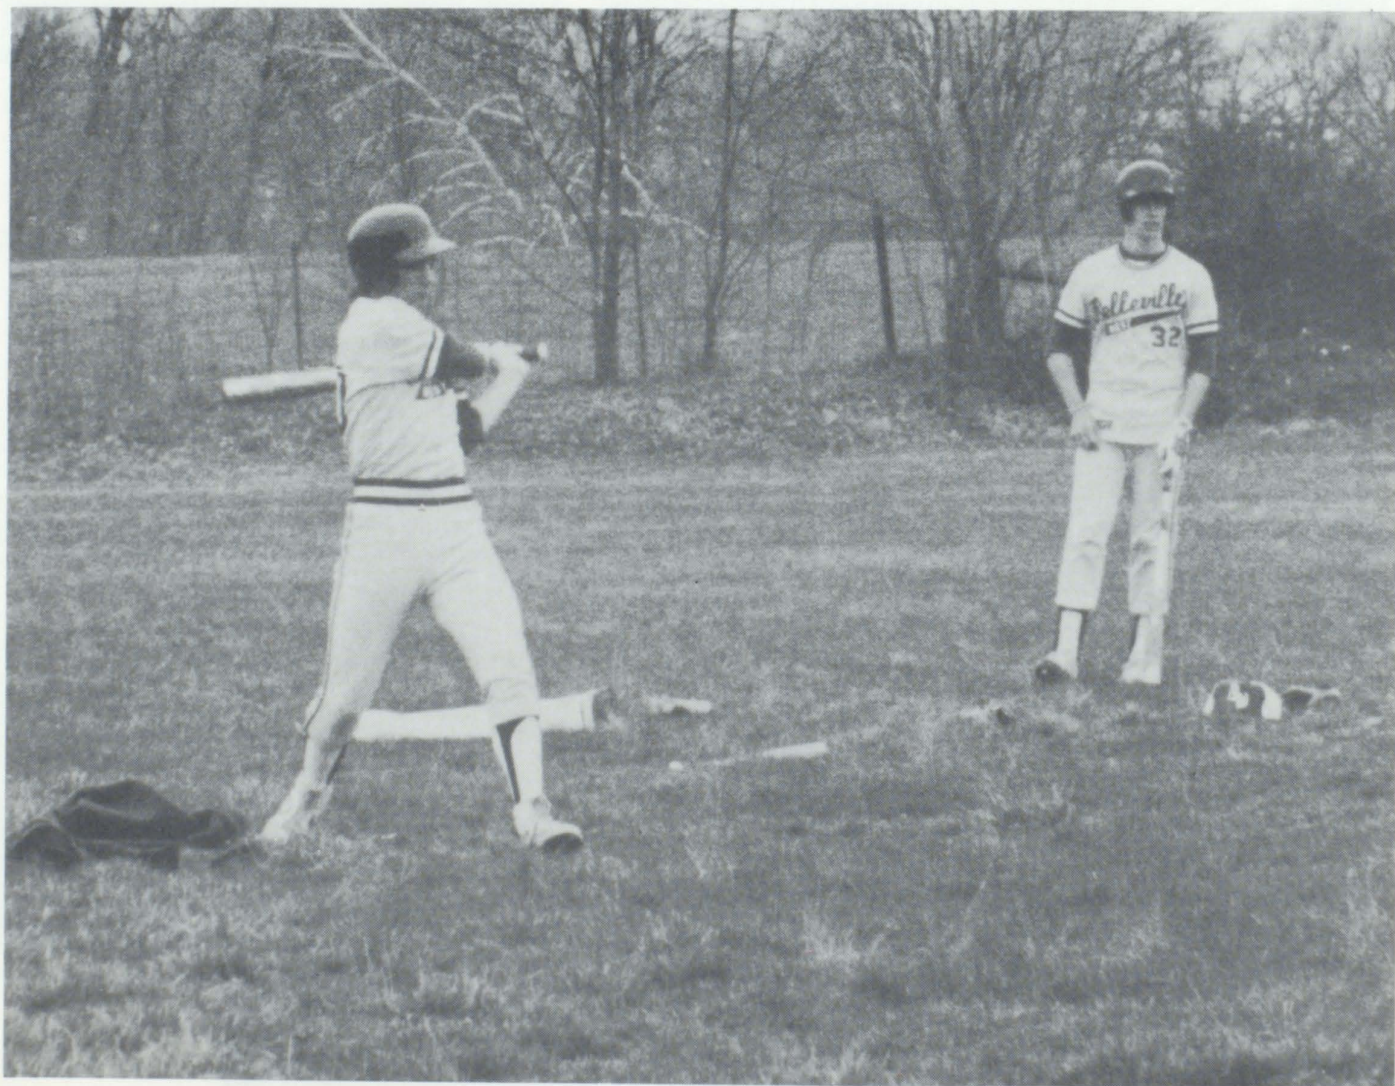

With an optimistic team feeling, the young Maroons will return only eight lettermen and fourteen juniors with little experience in the 1983 lineup. Under guidance of Coach Chuck Hasenstab, the team will be built around the fine pitching staff of Eric Weigers, Mark Henke, and Jim Schlecht. Occupying key positions in the infield are Chris Merten at first base, Randy Hunt at second, Mike McCollum at short-stop, and Andy Smith at third. Catching for the Maroons again this year is Bob Evans. The strong outfield will be led by Eric Anderson with Joe Houk and Dave Strong also occupying outfield positions.

BOYS GYM AND ANNEX

Amy St. Eve was escorted by Tom Koenig. Amy proved to be worthy of representing the qualities of Miss Maroon.

The retiring Miss Maroon, Missy Cusack, handed over the crown and duties of her office to Amy St. Eve, the happy recipient of the title.

To be elected a member of the Miss Maroon Court was a great honor for Mary Asbury, escorted by Jim Keck.

Four years of high school achievements led Lisa Davis, escorted by Jeff Klem, to be a representative on the Court.

Escorted by Bob Evans, Janet Hall experienced the pride and excitement associated with her being elected to the Court.

Court elected by students

History continued as the Miss Maroon Court was elected to represent the Senior Class. This year the honor was given to Mary Asbury, Lisa Davis, Janet Hall, Amy St. Eve, and Lisa Sotiropoulos. Miss Maroon of 1982, Missy Cusack, ended her reign by crowning Amy St. Eve as Miss Maroon '83.

Lisa Sotiropoulos highlighted her senior year as a member of the Court. Escorted by Dave Elbe, Lisa rose to the occasion.

A surrey ride was in store for Miss Maroon, Amy St. Eve, and her escort Tom Koenig.

All kinds of people celebrated throughout the week

Spirit Week opened with Geek Day. Many "changed" appearances were seen around the campus.

The Pretty Baby Contest included a variety of competitors. The flattering award was won by Steve Eichholz.

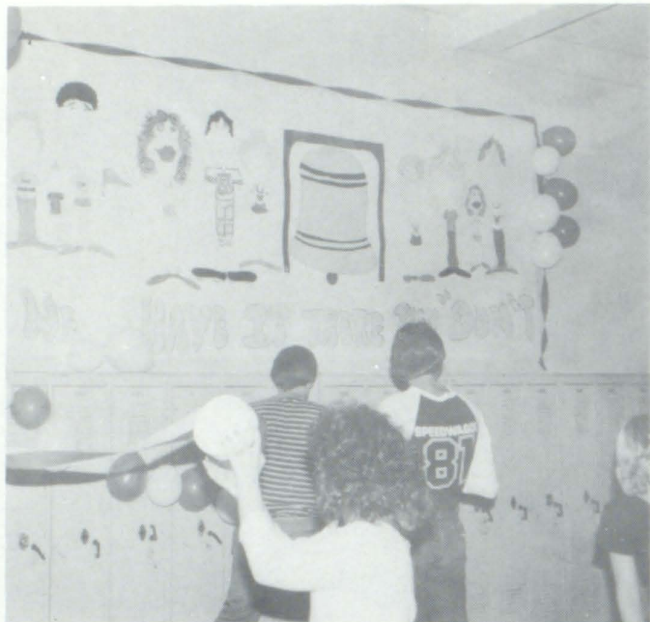

MASH Day attracted the attention of many on campus. The popular TV show characters appeared in all shapes and forms, from freshmen to seniors.

Usual school attire was not the scene on Punk Day. Mini skirts, leather, and glitter helped us to punk out.

Punk was not only reserved for students. Mrs. Ellie Krummrich and Mrs. Lynn Schwoebel of 208M displayed punk creativity in their costumes for the day.

Many groups exhibited Maroon spirit by competing in the hall decorating contest. The first place award was taken again this year by the cheerleaders who decorated the Cafeteria foyer.

Mr. Joe Chmeleck, Mr. Dan Wolford, and Mr. Doug Dahm chose T-shirts over business suits on Hat and T-shirt Day.

Competition contributed to Maroon spirit on Hobo Day

The agony of defeat began to show on senior faces as the juniors dominated the Tug-of-War event.

The tension mounted in the final competition of the Tug-of-War. The Junior Class proceeded to the finals by defeating the freshman and the seniors dominated the sophomores. The final event saw the juniors pull their way to victory.

The theme banner led the Hobo Day parade. The parade left campus for the downtown area and wound up at Third and Main for the awarding of the float building trophy.

Hobo Day was announced on the school marquee.

Before the big game, the football team was honored in the parade.

Victory meant effort

Our talents were displayed in many areas during Spirit Week. The week of activities was brought to a close with the annual Hobo Day parade, preparing us for the football game against East St. Louis High that afternoon.

Hard work and new ideas paid off as the Junior Class rallied and won the spirit and the float-building competition.

The lone entrant of the mini-float competition was created by the Orchestra. Keeping the tradition alive, the group held on to the prized trophy.

The seniors hoped to hold on to the victory this year by "Hawaiian-punching" the Flyers. Although a victory was not at hand, the seniors cheered on.

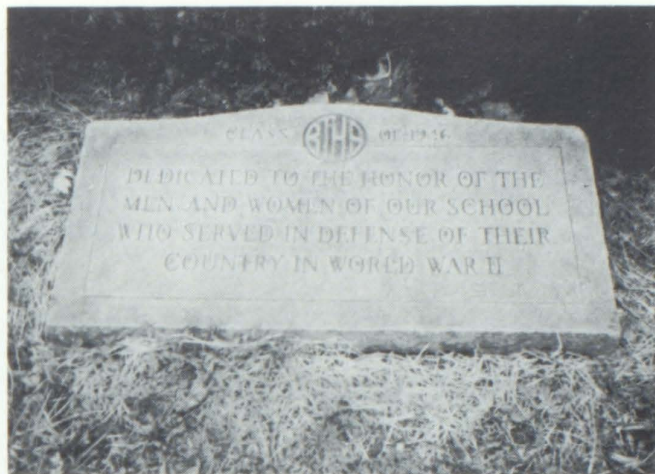

As the sophomores' float-building techniques and experience increased, their spirit soared in hopes the Maroons would "reach out" and crush the Flyers.

S*P*I*R*I*T*

The theme running throughout Hobo Day was "Commercials." Float building was our chance to express our ideas, talents, and creativity. Above all, we worked together to develop a representation of each class. Ideas ranged from "Hawaiian Punch the Flyers" (seniors), "We Deserve a Bell Today" (juniors) "Reach Out and Crush Someone" (sophomores) to "Take Aim Against the Flyers" (freshmen).

A first try at float building proved successful as the freshmen took aim against the Flyers.

The Marching Band was the only Illinois high school band to participate in the victory celebration parade in downtown St. Louis. The parade was held a day after the St.

Louis Cardinals defeated the Milwaukee Brewers to become World Series champions last October.

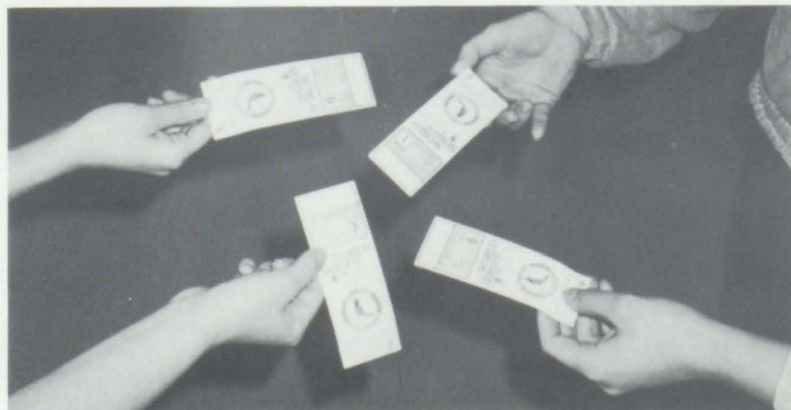

The World Series attracted vendors selling souvenirs of all kinds.

The playoff and World Series tickets were hard to attain, but became a prized possession, well worth waiting for.

The St. Louis Cardinals were more than a baseball team. They were the World Champions!!

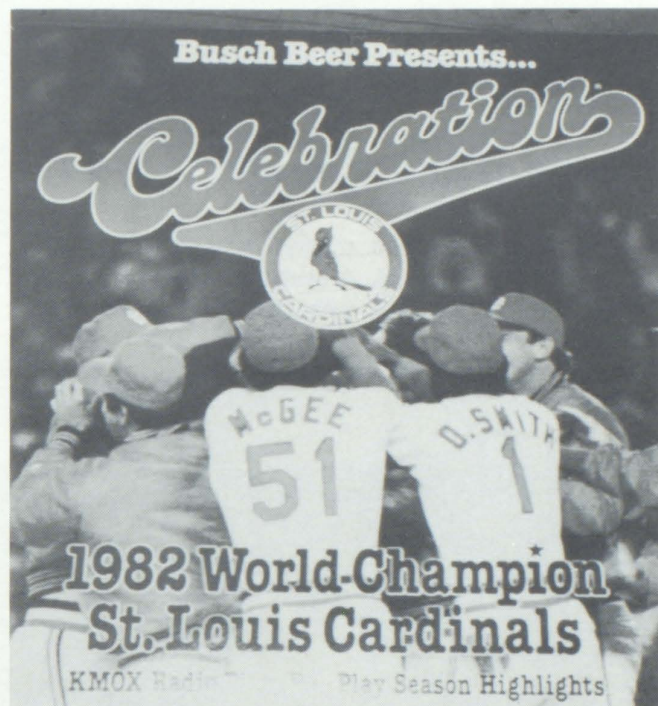

The Cardinals meant a season of celebration

The games were covered in magazines of all kinds and programs helped us to keep track of the action.

Area businesses displayed signs of support as Cardinal Fever swept over the entire metropolitan area.

The Cardinal's season was definitely one long celebration for everyone.

Every move of the players was covered by local and world-wide media. The final World Series win was front page news throughout the world.

Music filled the air

The school offered many outlets for musical interests and talents. A combination of musical skills and hours of practice produced many sounds of music throughout the year at concerts, assemblies, and basketball and football games.

Mr. Ralph Schlesinger and the Concert Band took a bow after a concert on the stage.

Woody Herman's band captivated area residents and students in a special performance last winter.

The Marching Maroons took part in many downtown parades.

The spirit at home basketball games was highlighted by the Pep Band.

Working together, the Junior Class produced a J.A.M. to be proud of.

The curtain opened on talent

The stage became the outlet for many students as they produced drama, comedy, and musicals. Each production was backed by the students and teachers who were dedicated to carrying out their projects. The backstage crews played important roles just as those on stage did. Each job demanded knowledge of techniques and experience.

The theatre season would not have been possible without many trips to the "rat hole" for props of all kinds.

When Frosty came to life, so did the entire cast and crew.

The Little Theatre play, "To Kill a Mockingbird" called for a display of various emotions.

We had the look . . . the look was right!

Styles on campus were a combination of personal taste, fads, and variety. The preppy look of penny loafers and oxford shirts was displayed, along with pin-striped jeans and mini skirts and sporty white tennis shoes. The styles we wore reflected our moods of the day, ranging from bright or loud to somber.

After a big concert in the metropolitan area, there were a lot of concert tee shirts on campus.

Pin-striped jeans, oxford shirts, and Western boots were the "in thing."

All styles of jeans were still seen around the campus.

Feet were decorated with many styles, including penny loafers, tennis shoes, pumps, hiking boots, and deck shoes.

Personalization was the fad as every item imaginable boasted the owner's initials. Principal Jerry Turner initialed his license plates.

Style caught the eye of the car buyer as well as the eye of the onlookers.

Car owners had many expenses. Affordability was high on the list of priorities when car hunting.

Hot wheels varied

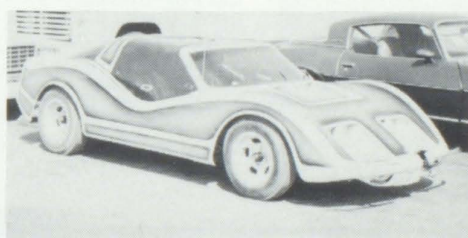

Transportation was everything to the busy student's lifestyle. Buses, cars, trucks, bicycles, and motorcycles were the modes to take us everywhere.

Some of us preferred motorcycles for transportation. Parking was definitely not one of our problems.

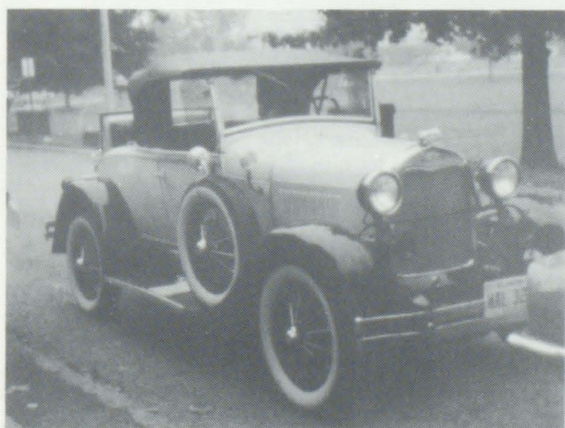

Trucks took us where we were going, but they also stated where we came from.

Metallic paint, tinted windows, and glistening chrome were only a few features of the sports car.

Every color of the rainbow decorated the cars we owned. When owners could not choose the color they like the best, they chose more than one.

The older the better was the motto for this collection of restored cars.

Having a car meant responsibilities. Parking stickers were required for use of campus parking facilities.

Everyone got involved

Our lives were made up of our activities at school and in our community. Community involvement included our jobs, public performances, benefits, fund-raising projects, and special events. Our community was always there to stand behind us and our school.

The public came to many kinds of performances in the Auditorium.

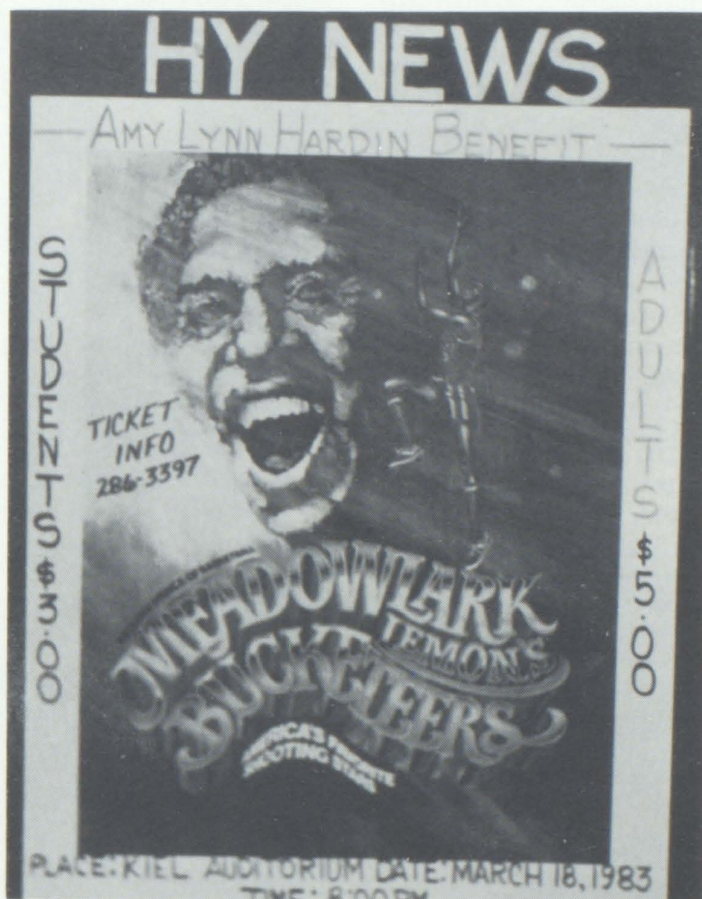

The football team, cheerleading squads, and coaches helped to crown Mrs. Lydia Brantner as Queen for the Day at the Memorial Convalescent Center "Senior Prom Night."

Kneeling were Lisa Sotiropoulos and Toni Woodrome and Jamie Nowak and Matt Studtmann were standing behind the "throne."

Our lives revolved around the community

People of all ages love a parade and enjoyed watching our flag girls lead our band.

The Hy News Staff sold tickets to help fund the area drive to raise money for a liver transplant for a Cahokia, Illinois baby.

The children's play appealed to the "little people" of the area. Children from local schools were bussed to campus for matinee performances.

Donkeys dominated the seniors' stubborn efforts

On Thursday, March 24, the senior boys and the senior girls struggled against each other in the forty-third annual Donkey Basketball game. The evening, sponsored by the Bellevinois Staff and the Student Council, was highlighted by the donkeys who deposited seniors onto the gym floor. The boys managed to get thirty-six baskets to the girls' six. Team members identified themselves as teams in everything imaginable from T-shirts to night-shirts.

As some team members wrestled for the ball, others wrestled with their donkeys.

The donkeys rested and fed near the Big W during the afternoon, getting ready for the big game.

The teams anxiously waited for their time on the court.

Each team had two minutes of playing time to show their stuff.

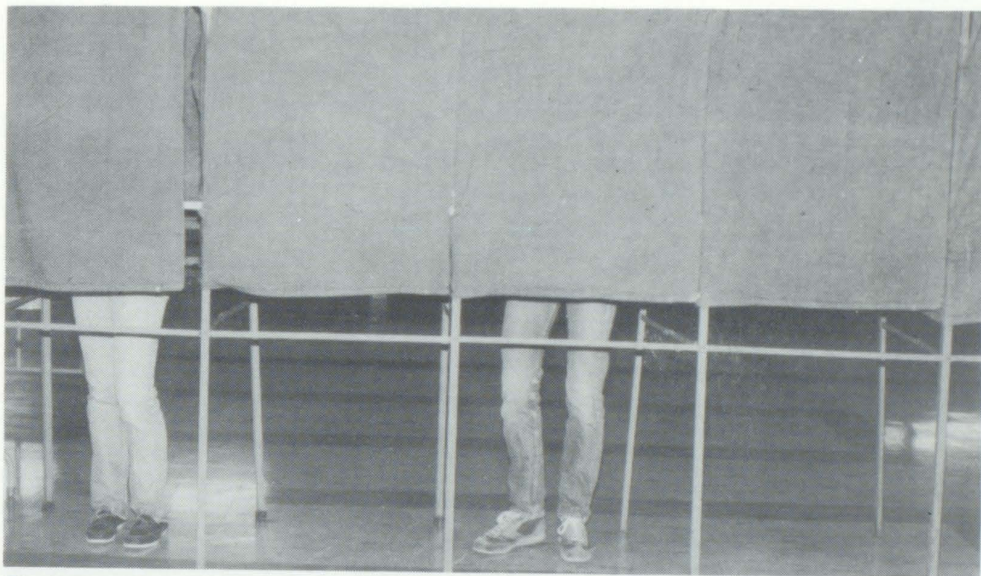

Good things come to those who wait . . .

At the end of the Cafeteria lunch line, we paid for the hot lunches served to us.

Lunch time began with a dash to the Snack Bar, hoping to be the first in line.

The voting booths visited the Cafeteria on different occasions throughout the year. Before voting, we waited to obtain a private booth after we had presented our I.D.'s to receive ballots.

Lines and constant waiting, preceded most of our activities on and off campus. We waited to attend sporting events, buy gasoline, order food, visit our assigned counselor or principal, and get rides home. While we had extra time in lines, we did many things, from studying to socializing.

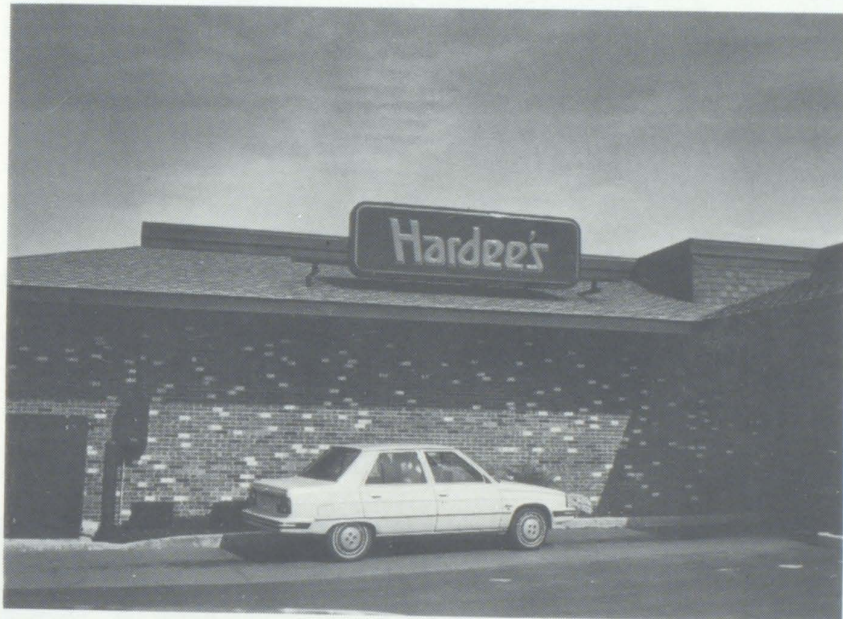

The sports banquet had many highlights, but everyone anticipated the meal that was worth waiting for.

Seniors roamed off campus

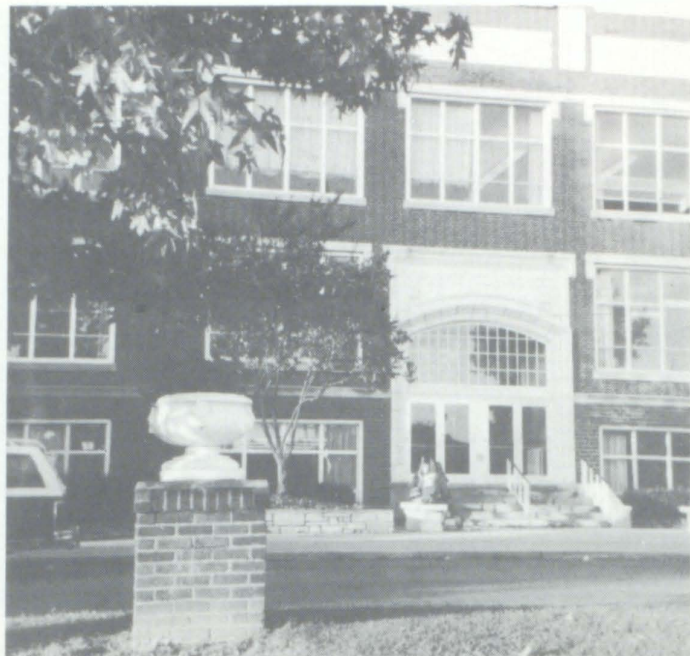

For the underclassmen, open campus was not a reality, but something to look forward to in their senior year. The seniors used this envied option by frequenting local restaurants adorning West Main Street instead of the Cafeteria.

At the end of a busy day, the campus became a lively place.

Our majestic Main Building overlooked the Circle Drive, a good place to meet home-bound rides.

The senior triangle became a quiet area to rest or to think as the early autumn days passed.

We have a campus for all seasons

Our campus of traditional buildings, some dating back to the school's founding in 1917, accommodates us still today. New ramps were added last summer to the Auditorium to facilitate the use of wheelchairs and to aid the handicapped. Steps and sidewalks were replaced, creating a safer and more beautiful campus for everyone.

The Auditorium opened its doors to the public for music and theatre performances as well as to students for assemblies, shows, and a fourth-hour study hall.

Our campus was beautified by the plant life and trees that shaded us in spring and fall.

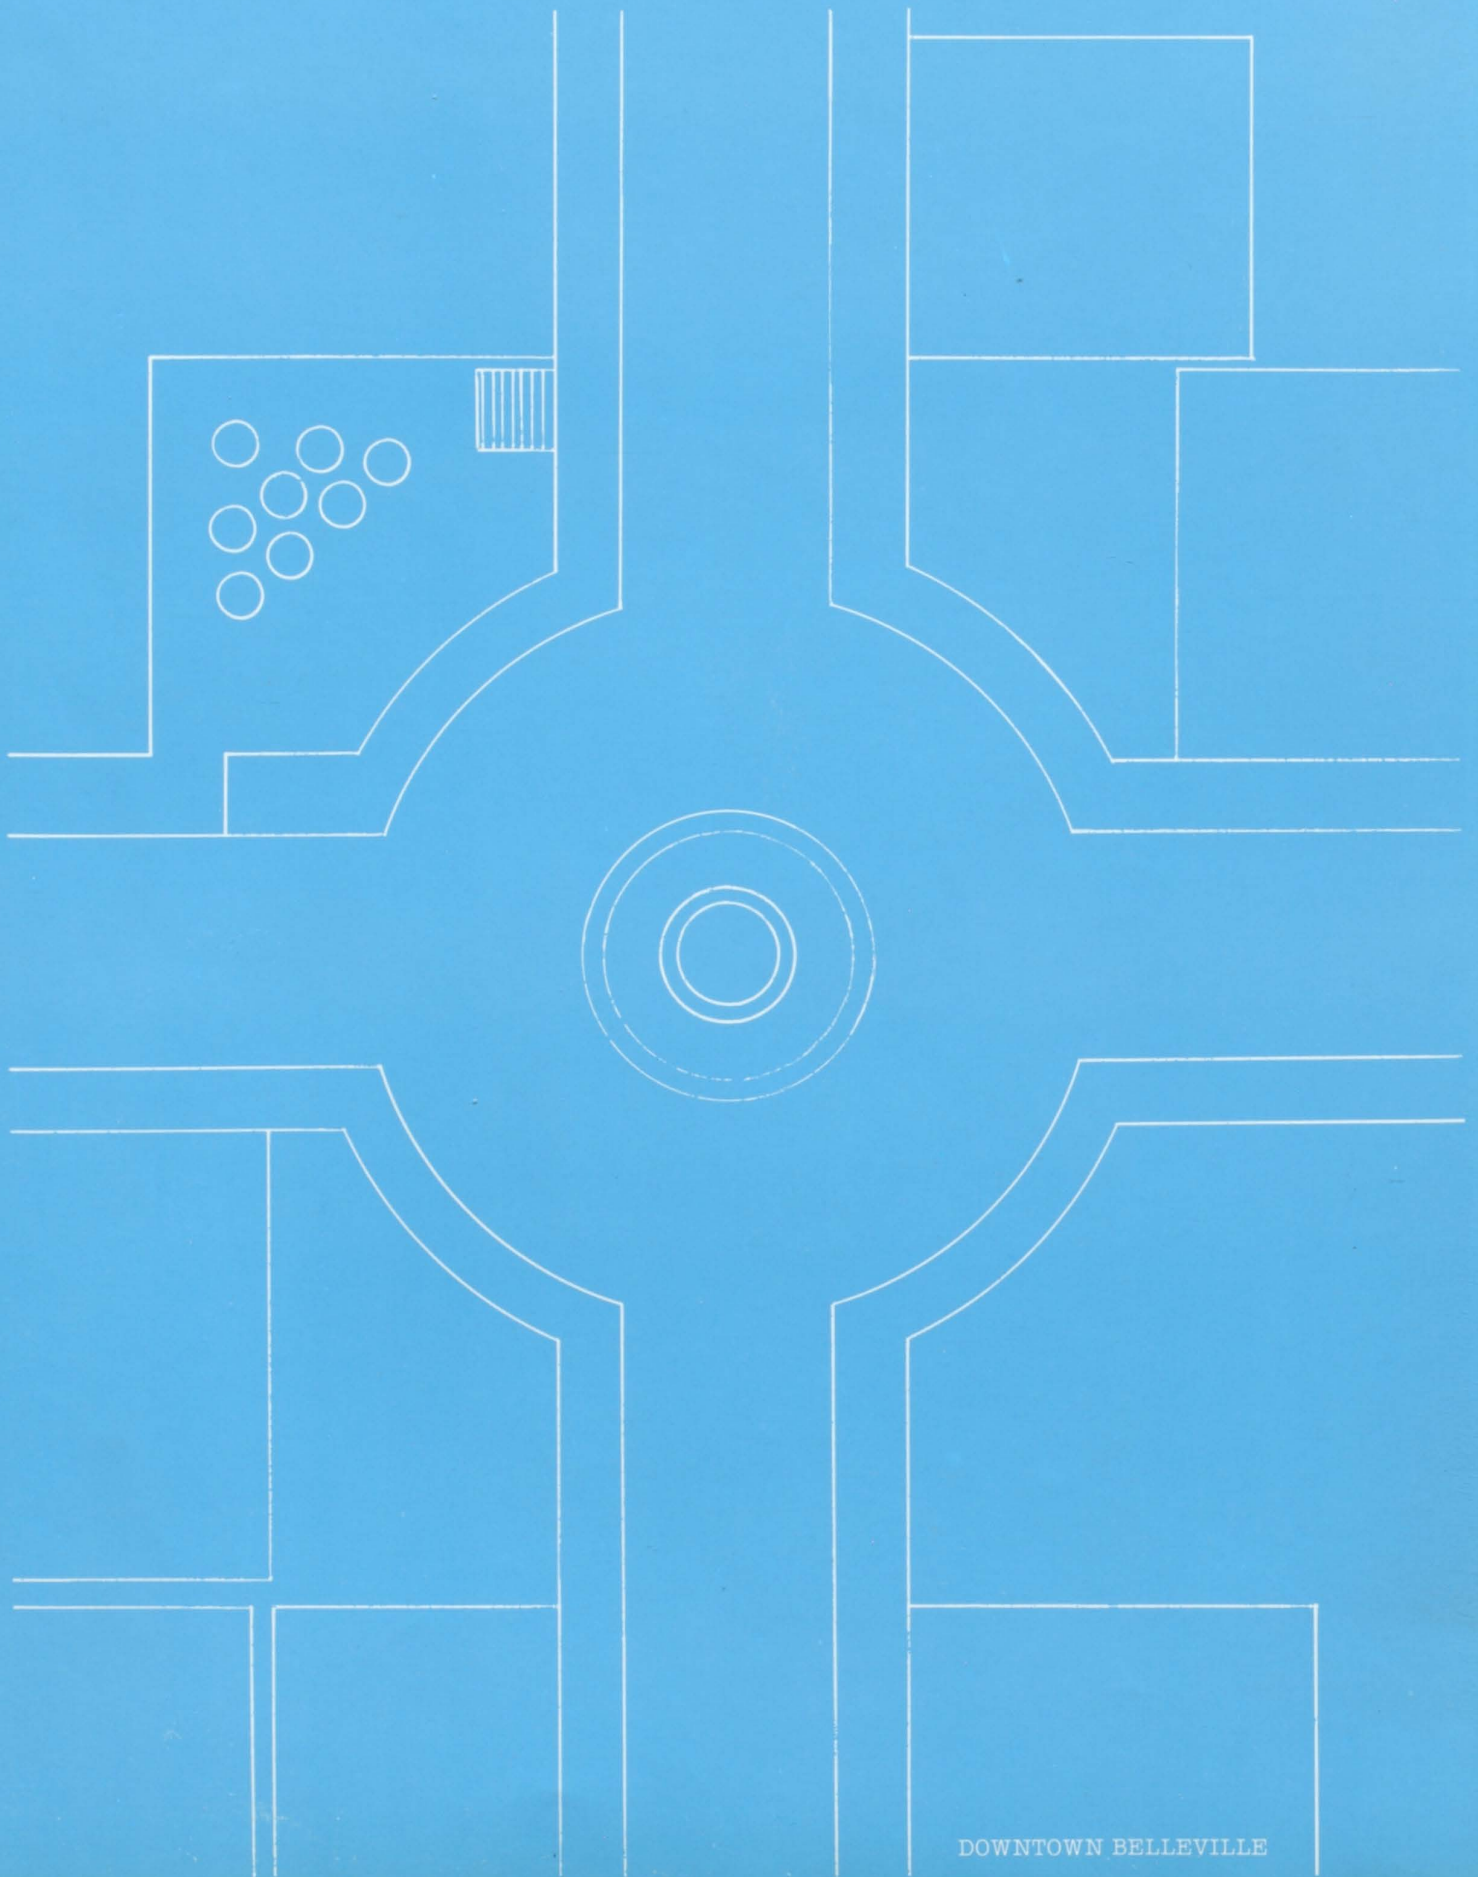

Jennifer Schloz found a quiet place to attempt to do her homework while still enjoying some fresh air.

The mall area provided a spot for students to gather before classes and a junction for paths to all the buildings on campus.

FAREWELL

"Thinking back,
we realize the importance of these four remarkable years.

As freshmen —
we acted immature while we tried to hide the fact that we were so scared.

As sophomores —
we slowly regained our courage as we terrorized Belleville in our Drivers' Education cars.

As juniors —
we proved that we still had some unique childlike qualities as we displayed our talents in "All That Jam."

As seniors —
we put aside our childish play as we set our sights on that one special time known as Graduation Day.

We realize that these years were a great help, even if they were concentrated on all work and little play.

We also understand that in years to come we may view these as the four best years of our lives."

— Class of '83

The daily building of many lives blend together into the story of Belleville West.
